

Code of Ethics

Directions:

1. Select a particular industry in which you are interested. Imagine you are an entrepreneur who has just started a business within the industry you have selected.
2. Using the library, internet or other resources, research common ethical codes which are practiced within the industry chosen.
3. Create a code of ethics for your company and include the following:
 - Product quality
 - Service quality
 - Fairness of the return or exchange policies
 - Safety of the work environment
 - Protecting the interest of affiliated parties
 - Other social responsibilities of the company (community involvement, environmental protection, etc.)
 - Providing information for employees and customers
 - Outlining confidential information
 - Information appropriate to obtain from a client or another employee
4. Cite all sources used and present your code of ethics to the class.